NOTES.

1. Some O.V.s expected that the new Register would be Mr. Cooper's volume corrected and brought up to date. That would have been an impossible task. The earlier volume ended with December 1929. The present one contains the names of those who were in the school in or after January 1930, up to December 1956. Pages 47 to 66 therefore give those who entered in various terms before 1930 and were still in the school in January of that year.

2. It was not realised that no single compiler could deal with the task with any approach to completeness and accuracy. Perhaps the Council of the O.V.A. was a bit optimistic in deciding to include careers. After this volume was in print, numerous mistakes and omissions revealed themselves, and the whole thing was then carefully revised by three different hands, the result being the pages of additions and corrections that follow here. References to the Register should be checked by these pages.

FOREWORD.

This book is intended to be a register of all Victorians who were at Victoria College during the period from January, 1930, to the end of 1956, with information about academic, athletic and other College activities. It is too much to hope that the book is free from all mistakes and I apologise for any errors which may inadvertently have been made.

The College History up to 1930 has been taken almost word for word from Mr. Cooper's excellent history in the former register. I am indebted to Mr. A. H. Worrall for his help and advice, to the Council of the Old Victorians' Association, at whose request the work was undertaken and to Mr. A. G. Harrison and the Evening Post for valuable help in providing the photographs.

J. S. ROWLEY.

COLLEGE HISTORY.

In the days of Henry VII a worthy merchant of Southampton, who had trading connections with Jersey, left sundry land the revenue from which was to be devoted to the establishment of a school or schools in the island. This bequest received the royal approval and the schools of St. Mannelier and St. Anastase were founded for the east and west of the island. For some time they flourished exceedingly, their pupils being counted by the hundred, but they decayed in the time of the early Stuarts and were eventually closed.

The next step towards the provision of education in Jersey was taken by Charles II. Historians have said many hard things about this monarch, without perhaps making adequate allowance for the extraordinary difficulties of his position. But every Jerseyman knows that Charles II resided for some time in the island, and that after the Restoration he granted Jersey certain privileges. Chief among these was the Patente de l'Impôt, granted in 1681, which empowered the Bailiff and Jurats to levy duties on wines and spirits. But coupled with the grant was an injunction to the Bailiff and Jurats to pay 2,000 livres turnois by the year out of the revenue from the duties to the completion of the building and to the Master and Ushers of the School which Sir George Carteret was proposing to build.

Further that, after the completion of the pier at St. Aubin's, one half of the residue of the Impôt revenue should be devoted to the improvement and advantage of the said school. Sir George and the Bishop of Winchester were to form ordinances for the good government of the same. Charles also, it will be remembered left land to Exeter, Pembroke and Jesus Colleges at Oxford for the benefit of scholars from the Channel Islands. This latter bequest held good and has proved a great help to our education, but the former missed fire. Sir George's school was not built, and the money was diverted by the Bailiff and Jurats to a variety of public works.

Such continued to be the state of affairs until the visit of Queen Victoria in 1846. In May 1847 the Lieut.-Governor, Sir J. H. Reynett, wrote to the Bailiff, pointing out the failure of the Jurats to carry out King Charles's wishes, and remarking that for some time past there had been a surplus fully equal to establishing a school for the island. He suggested that such a project would surely meet with Her Majesty's favour. The Assembly of the Governor, Bailiff and Jurats agreed that a school would be very advantageous and appointed a committee, which consulted authorities in England (particularly Dr. Jeune, Master of Pembroke College) and reported to the Assembly. An architect was selected; the States of Jersey also appointed a committee; and in August the Assembly decided to purchase the present grounds from W. Le Breton, Esq., for £5,070. The Joint Committee disagreed with their first architect; they decided to erect a building capable of accommodating 300 pupils, and in May 1849 appointed Mr. J. Hayward to prepare the plans. In March 1850 the building contract was assigned to Mr. J. Le Rossignol and on May 24th the Foundation Stone was laid by the Lieut.-Governor; contingents from the militia regiments and the regulars and members of the States attended, and the day was observed as a holiday in St. Helier. The actual building occupied two years. In the meantime the States determined the conditions of service for the Principal and Staff, and in March 1852 appointed Dr. W. G. Henderson as Principal. One of the other two selected candidates was Dr. Westcott, afterwards Bishop of Durham. Dr. Henderson had had a brilliant career at Oxford, taking honours in Classics (1st Lit. Hum.) and Mathematics, and winning the Chancellor's Latin Essay Prize and the Ellerton Theology Prize. He had served as Junior Proctor, and had experience at Magdalen College School and Hatfield Hall, Durham. He was 34 years old when appointed and he was Principal for ten years, in the course of which he laid the foundations of the prosperity of Victoria College. He had many and serious difficulties to encounter. Everything was new: the governing body were without experience; the staff was experimental; parents and pupils critical; there was no school tradition. But the difficulties were surmounted as they arose. Dr. Henderson secured an excellent staff and the school was opened on September 29th, 1852, in the presence of the States and Sir J. H. Reynett, late Lieut.-Governor. The school began with an entry of 109. This number steadily increased until in 1858 it reached 223. The school was divided into Classical and Commercial sides. School hours were from 9.30 to 12.30 and 2 to 5 with two half-holidays a week. There were four terms, with six weeks holiday at Midsummer, 15 days at Christmas and two or three days at Easter and Michaelmas. Boys were admitted at the age of 7. The Principal was not allowed to take boarders, but lived in the House which is now the "Prep" school. In 1855 a grant of £50 a year was made out of the Crown revenues for the establishment of an Exhibition to the Universities, and three gold medals, and these were first awarded in 1856. In 1858 the Halford Medal for English Literature was founded; it has since been replaced by the Farnell Prize. In 1891 the States Medals for French were voted. In the same year the Queen's History Prizes were instituted, and also the Touzel Prize. Cricket and Athletic Sports were organised and the cricket ground opposite the school was bought in 1861 and levelled in the two years following. The School Library was begun; it contained 136 books in 1862. Dr. Henderson devoted himself chiefly to the teaching of History and Literature, both Classical and Modern. Composition was in the hands of Mr. Whitley and Mr. Foster (who joined the staff in 1865), while the Rev. J. Le Sueur controlled the mathematics. Five open scholarships or exhibitions were gained by 1862, and at least four of the boys who were under Dr. Henderson (G. O. Balleine, H. C. Ogle, E. Marshall, R. L. Clarke) became Fellows of their Colleges. Besides this A. Brett passed into the Indian Civil Service, and T. Stevens became a wrangler, while many boys passed into the army.

In 1862 Dr. Henderson resigned on being appointed Head of Leeds Grammar School. He remained at Leeds for 22 years, and was then Dean of Carlisle till his death in 1905. He always regarded his best work as having been done in Jersey and all will unite in regarding him as the founder of the success of Victoria College. Mr. C. J. Wood, Fellow and Tutor of B.N.C., Oxford, was then appointed Principal, but he only stayed till April 1863. He was succeeded by the Rev. W. O. Cleave, L.L.D., Fellow and Tutor of Jesus College, Cambridge, who was Principal for 18 years. Dr. Cleave was a very fine scholar, and a glance at the Distinctions list will show how worthily he carried on the good work begun by Dr. Henderson. He was anxious to extend the activities of the College and urged the establishment of a recognised Boarding House. This was started in 1867 under Mr. Hartung, and in 1870 there were 16 boarders. Natural Science was brought into the school curriculum, and struggled on under difficulties till 1881. The Beaufils and Lerrier Prizes were founded, and gymnastics were encouraged. There were 163 boys in the School when Dr. Henderson left, and the numbers varied from 170 to 190 until late in Dr. Cleave's régime. The staff numbered 12 and most of the teaching was done in the Big School. Four masters took classes in the main hall, and three more in the wing. Various pictures were presented to the College, including the portraits of Dr. Falle and Dr. Jeune. The Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board commenced examining the College in 1874. The school year was divided into three terms instead of four in 1879, and a definite understanding was come to with the Oxford authorities on the subject of the Channel Islands Scholarships. In Dr. Cleave's time the school enjoyed an extraordinary measure of success at the Universities. The distinctions gained by Old Victorians at Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin and Durham were probably more numerous than those obtained by the old boys of any other school of the size of the College. The list comprises six fellowships, seventeen University scholarships and prizes, twenty-three first classes, and twenty-four entrance scholarships. It must be remembered too that the latter were almost all open scholarships for the Channel Islands foundation was not settled till 1880. Classics, mathematics and modern languages were the main subjects in which distinction was obtained, and it is beyond all doubt that the teaching of Dr. Cleave and his staff was of a very high order. Natural Science was struggling for a place in the curriculum and a laboratory was started in the "Temple". It met however with little support, and in 1881 the Committee actually decided to discontinue it.

As time went on, the teaching at the College became rather stereotyped; many of the staff were getting on in years and a demand for a more up-to-date education became more insistent. A committee was appointed to enquire into the administrations of the College, and, after visiting several schools in England, submitted a report in 1880. Upon this a Projet de Loi was drawn up amending the conditions of service for the Principal and assistant masters, and Dr. Cleave resigned in March 1881. In August Mr. R. H. Chambers, late Scholar of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, was appointed Principal. Others of the staff followed Dr. Cleave. Plans for a boarding house had been submitted in 1880, but went no further; upon Mr. Chambers' advent Nos. 9 and 10 The Terrace were taken on lease to serve as a boarding house, and No. 8 was added later. The arrangement was not entirely satisfactory, and plans for a house were from time to time considered, but for years nothing was done. Under Mr. Chambers Natural Science was introduced again, a stricter discipline was enforced, the hours of teaching were re-arranged, the College buildings were thoroughly examined, and a new College ribbon was decided on. Success at the Universities and elsewhere was maintained at a high level and some brilliant scholars were produced, but the main achievement of Mr. Chambers was the general re-organisation of the College both in school and in the playing field. In 1892 Mr. Chambers resigned on being appointed Headmaster of Brighton College. He was succeeded by Mr. G. S. Farnell, who was educated at the City of London School and Wadham College, and had taken a first-class degree in classics at Oxford. Mr. Farnell had had experience at St.

Paul's School and was known as an able scholar; his 'Greek Lyric Poets' is still a testimony to his ability. He continued Mr. Chambers's good work, and the College was anticipating another long period of success when his career was terminated by a most unfortunate accident. In November 1895 the College had a whole holiday at half-term. Mr. Farnell went out to Plémont to join two of his staff who had started earlier. The day was foggy, and Mr. Farnell, who was rather short-sighted, must, in searching for his colleagues, have missed his footing on the cliffs, for he was found dead at their base. Mr. T. Lattimer acted as Principal till the end of the term, and in January 1896 Mr. L. V. Lester (afterwards Lester-Garland), late Fellow and Lecturer of St. John's College, Oxford, became Principal. Under him the College continued its career of academic success and was gradually furnished with some of the buildings which had become necessary to a public school. Of these a proper boarding house was the first need. The houses leased in the Terrace had never been more than a makeshift, and in 1897 plans for an adequate building were drawn up by Mr. T. G. Jackson, R.A. The site was chosen, but the plans proved too expensive, and it was not until 1899 that the present building was commenced on plans drawn up by Mr. E. Bertram. It was completed in 1901, and opened with great ceremony on July 29th to mark the Jubilee celebration of the College. In the meantime the Library had been moved to the wing, the Farnell prize established, and the conditions for the Channel Islands Scholarships definitely settled. The Old Victorians held their first dinner in 1897. The Cadet Corps was started in 1902, becoming the O.T.C. in 1908, and rifle shooting soon became a school activity. The Cricket Pavilion was provided in 1904 by the generosity of the Old Victorians, and

Mrs. de Quetteville presented the Library with most handsome oak furniture and fittings, as well as with a portrait of the late Mr. Girard de Quetteville. Memorial brasses to the O.V.s who fell in the Boer War, and to Dr. Henderson were erected and unveiled in 1905. Mr. Lester-Garland, though strongly in favour of classics as the foundation of an education, had long been pressing for the development of science. A site and plans for a new block of buildings containing laboratories and class-rooms were approved in 1907, and building commenced in 1908; the work advanced slowly and took three years to complete, the rooms being brought into use in the autumn of 1911.

In 1911, Mr. Lester-Garland resigned the Principalship after a tenure of office extending over nearly 16 years. He was succeeded by Mr. A. H. Worrall, M.A., sometime Scholar of St. John's College, Oxford. Mr. Worrall had taken a first-class at Oxford, he had had experience at Loretto, Lancing and Bradfield, and was Headmaster of Louth Grammar School. Under his régime various changes were gradually introduced. The standard teaching period was fixed at three quarters of an hour. Singing and physical training were made part of the curriculum. A Terminal College Service at the Town Church was instituted, and a general committee organised to manage all games. Late in 1911 the new laboratories and class-rooms were brought into use, and the old 'Temple' became a Master's Common Room. In this summer the school was for the first time inspected by the Board of Education, which, while offering advice on various points, reported that it was in a 'soundly efficient' condition. Prize Day was held in the autumn term, but this innovation did not last long.

In 1913 Captain Worrall took command of the O.T.C as Major Raymer had gone to Clifton. The gymnasium was completed and brought into use, and the levelling of the top field continued. The Girard de Quetteville medal was founded and the "Prep" school begun.

In 1914 the Bishop of Winchester visited the College, some fifty years having elapsed since the visit of Bishop Sumner. The Carmen Cæsariense was also composed. Then came the war. Naturally it affected the College seriously. Mr. Dawson and Mr. Herez-Smith of the staff went on active service at once, followed shortly by Mr. Sprott, whilst Captain Worrall himself went in 1915. His brother-in-law, Mr. H. B. Tristram, formerly Headmaster of Loretto, who was living in retirement in the Island, joined the staff (and remained a valuable member of it till 1927).

The O.T.C. went regularly on Outpost duty, and work and games had to be modified. Still every attempt was made to carry on as usual, and all five candidates for Channel Island Scholarships and exhibitions were successful in 1915. Mr. Belk became Acting Principal and remained in charge until Mr. Worrall's return towards the end of 1917. Space is lacking for any adequate account of the doings of Old Victorians in the War. The College was represented in every theatre of the war, from Zeebrugge to Mesopotamia, from South Africa to the Falkland Islands.

Full details are given in Mr. Worrall's 'Book of Remembrance'. 127 Old Victorians gave their lives, and more than 600 are known to have served. The list of honours gained is a very long one. In 1918 owing to the shortage of labour some fifty College boys volunteered to work on the quays in the height of the potato season, and in the summer holidays a party went to a Harvest Camp in Devonshire. With the end of the war the College returned to its normal life. The School was divided into four houses named after distinguished Victorians, viz. Sartorius, Bruce, Dunlop and Braithwaite. For the autumn term of 1919 there was a record entry of 57 and the numbers of the school reached 211. In the course of the war the numbers had dropped to 140 but had risen again before its close.

The Mossop Cup was presented in memory of C. S. Mossop, to be held each year by the boy with the best all-round record for games. The funds accumulated from the old benefaction of St. Mannelier and St. Anastase were applied to the institution of two or more foundation scholarships at the College each year and the College authorities determined to enter boys for the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Certificate, instead of the various professional entrance examinations and the Cambridge Locals.

The year 1920 was marked by a great change in the administration of the College. In this year the States took over the care of all education in the Island, placing it under a States Committee called the Comité d'Instruction Publique. Previously the College had been under the dual control of the States and the Assembly of the Lieut.-Governor, Bailiff, and Jurats, an arrangement which, from the College point of view, was not without disadvantages. This new arrangement proved a success, and the College developed in several ways that were previously impossible.

The College was in this year inspected for the second time by the Board of Education, and the Inspectors were again able to make a very satisfactory report.

The year 1921 was marked by the visit of H.M. King George V and Queen Mary. The day was exceptionally hot but the King and Queen insisted on carrying out the programme in all its detail. The guard of honour, furnished by the O.T.C., was inspected and His Majesty, with great consideration, desired that they should fall out instead of waiting for his departure. He then looked over the Scouts, and visited the Hall, signing the Visitors' Book, where the first entry was that of Queen Victoria in 1859. The masters were presented, and the Head Prefect, and His Majesty concluded his visit with a request for the extension of the holidays, and drove off for a tour of the island.

The College Scout Troop was started in 1921. Central heating was installed in the old buildings in 1922. The statue of Sir Galahad, the War Memorial of the First World War was dedicated in 1924, being unveiled by the Lieut.-Governor. In this year Mr. Oswald Belk resigned after having been a master at the College for 36 years. It is sad to relate that he only enjoyed his retirement for a year, as he died suddenly in 1925. The class-room in which he taught for many a long year has been named "Belk."

The Board of Education inspected the College for the third time in 1925 and again made a favourable report. At their suggestion changes were made in the organisation of the School, and parallel forms were instituted from the Fifth downwards.

The O.T.C. were rejoiced by the construction of an up-to-date covered Miniature range, built at the South end of the cricket ground. This was followed in 1926 by the opening of the School Workshop, built alongside of the range. 1927 was marked by the adoption of a new school cap. In early days there was no cap, but College boys wore a ribbon of slanting black and white stripes. In 1928 the Barreau Art Prize was founded.

The history related so far is almost word for word that written by Mr. Cooper in the first College Register which was published in 1930. In 1929 the College lost two notable members of the staff in Mr. Somers and Mr. Ceppi. Mr. Somers had been a master at the College for 20 years and achieved a reputation for the production of school plays. Mr. Ceppi had been at College nine years.

In 1930 the College was well represented at Oxford and Cambridge, there being thirteen Victorians at Oxford and twelve at Cambridge. In that year, too, College provided Blues when H. V. Benest and G. Edwards turned out for Oxford and Cambridge respectively on the same day. After eighty years the Caen stone in the College building had begun to crumble and in 1931 work was begun on restoring the fabric of the building and replacing the Caen stone with Jersey granite. This work was continued until the Second World War interrupted operations. It was, however, resumed after the war and by 1950 it was completed. The year 1931 also saw improvements in lighting and heating when electric light and power were brought to the laboratories.

In 1933 Mr. Worrall resigned the Headmastership after 22 years in office. (Fortunately his association with the College did not end then and, at the time of writing, he is still the mainstay of the Old Victorians' Association; for almost 25 years since his retirement—including the difficult war years—he has been keeping O.V.s in touch with each other.) He was succeeded by Mr. J. H. Grummitt, M.A., sometime Classical Scholar of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, who had been Senior Classical Master at Ipswich School and at Epsom College.

The School had meanwhile been growing in numbers and in 1934 the Governors bought "Hohenlinden", a house adjoining the College on the South side, as additional accommodation. The house was adapted to provide an Art room and classrooms, and was renamed "De Carteret" in honour of Jurat Reginald Malet de Carteret, C.M.G., a former Chairman of the Governing Body, who had made a great contribution to the life of the School. About this time a scheme was inaugurated to furnish College Hall with oak chairs in replacement of the ancient desks and benches. O.V.s and their relatives were invited to present chairs, on each of which was carved the name and dates of the O.V. whom it commemorated. The scheme is still in operation and the Hall is now largely furnished with such chairs.

On October 18th, 1934, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Davis laid the foundation stone of the "Howard Hall" presented by them in memory of their son. The Hall, which was officially opened on July 23rd, 1935, by the Prince of Wales, houses a further gift of the Davis family in the portrait of King George V painted by J. St. Helier Lander.

Among the changes introduced by Mr. Grummitt were the substitution of the "Block" system for the old system of "Forms", the formation of the Entertainments Club, and the opening of a new Tuckshop in College Field. Electric lighting and shower baths were installed in College House and, in 1938, the main College buildings were improved by the fitting of electric light, the extending of the heating system, and the building of a new changing room.

Then, in 1939, came the Second World War. Its first effect was to increase the numbers in College, for many boys came here from English Schools.

Work went on much as usual for a few months but, when the Germans swept through the Low Countries, and France fell, it became clear that Jersey was likely to be occupied by the enemy. No arrangements had been made to move the school as a whole but when the Occupation came—on July 1st, 1940—about half the boys had already left the Island. A few days later those who remained assembled with Mr. P. A. Tatam, Vice-Principal and Acting Headmaster. There were about 130 boys, and the Masters included Messrs. Kennett, Bonne, Rowley, Williams, Gaskin and Nicolle. Almost at once the Germans took over College House as their civil headquarters and there they remained throughout the Occupation years.

The school was reorganised into six forms working to a simplified time-table; the teaching of chemistry had to be abandoned but most other subjects continued. Meanwhile the Preparatory Department had moved to the De Carteret building in the care of Miss L. Casimir (whose work, then and later, was beyond praise).

At first, the Germans interfered very little with the College and a fairly normal routine was possible. However, in September 1941, they requisitioned the College buildings to house a contingent of "Hitler Youth" and the College was forced to move to the Halkett Place School. Thanks to the combined efforts of Masters and boys, practically everything movable was taken from the buildings; honours boards and pictures from the Hall, together with most of the corridor cupboards, were stored in the Rifle Range and the Howard Hall; the library was left intact and was boarded off from the Hall; the rest of the equipment—furniture, books and stationery—was taken to Halkett Place School, leaving bare rooms. The next blow fell about a year later when, on the pretext of "reprisals", a number of English-born residents were deported to Germany, among them Mr. Kennett, Mr. Williams, Crumpton (the College Porter) and several boys. This was a serious loss to the teaching Staff of the College but substitutes were found and valuable help was given by boys who had recently left College; among these should be mentioned S. E. Guy, G. H. Hamon and H. F. Le Gresley. Others who played their part included Mr. R. E. Vardon, the Rev. W. de V. du Pré Mr. T. V. Le Breton and the Rev. P. K. Preston.

In October 1942 the Germans left the College buildings and the school was able to return and, by the Spring term of 1943, to restore everything to its former place. Little damage had been done, though the Hall windows had been painted black to within two or three feet of the bottom. The College soon settled down again to work and games. These latter were much restricted for a number of reasons, but every attempt was made to keep them going and an XI was in existence during most of the Occupation period. About this time German was made a compulsory subject though its introduction met with some passive resistance and some masterly delaying tactics. In these, as in so many matters throughout those years, the courage and determination of Mr. Tatam stood out splendidly. But for him the College might have been in a far less happy condition in many respects and, indeed, it is doubtful whether it could even have carried on.

During all this time the boys who had left Jersey in 1940 were going their various ways. A group of fourteen who had public examinations were received at Shrewsbury School where they remained until the end of the Summer Term 1940. With them were Mr. Grummitt, Mr. Eden, Mr. Salt and Mr. Nichols.

The College owes gratitude to Shrewsbury for this very hospitable action.

In September 1940, about 40 boys with Mr. Grummitt, Mr. Hopewell and Miss Aubrey were accommodated at Bedford School. Shortly afterwards Mr. Grummitt left on his appointment as Principal of Belfast Royal Academical Institution, and Mr. S. M. Toyne consented to act as Headmaster of 'Victoria College at Bedford'. Mr. Toyne had been for 20 years Headmaster of S. Peter's School, York, before coming to Bedford to give part-time help. Victoria College owes a great deal to him for the tremendous work which he did during the next five years. The Victorians at Bedford took a full part in the activities of their foster-parent school and brought honour to themselves and to Bedford in both work and games, but they never lost their identity as Victorians. As an expression of their gratitude they and other friends of Victoria College presented an Oak Panel, and an oak seat which now stands in the Bedford School playing-fields.

The school magazine "The Victorian" had ceased publication after April 1940. However Mr. Worrall, who had gone to live in Cheltenham, stepped into the breach and produced a News Letter which became a means of contact between Victorians almost everywhere. It was a wonderful achievement and it did untold good in keeping a corporate Victoria College spirit alive during those broken years.

Back in Jersey conditions of life had been gradually deteriorating. Food had become scarcer and there was neither gas nor electricity; transport was extremely difficult. For these and other reasons, afternoon school and homework were discontinued, and games were possible only on a small scale. Early in 1945 the first Red Cross food-parcels arrived in the Island and the more adequate diet made games once more feasible. College Field had been dug up into allotments and the Little Field had become a German riding school, so that games had to be played on the sands..... And then, at long last, came VE Day. School had begun as usual but, at 11 o'clock, the Headmaster publicly announced the glorious news. The National Anthem was sung; flags were hoisted on the College towers, and the 175 boys of the College dismissed to join in the general rejoicing.

Soon after the Liberation the Headmaster got in touch with the Oxford and Cambridge Board, which agreed to accept and mark the School Certificate papers set by qualified residents in 1943, and to award Certificates. Arrangements were also made for College boys to take the examinations of the Board in July 1945, when three boys passed Higher Certificate (one with distinction) and 37 gained School Certificates. Thus, in spite of all hardship and difficulty, academic standards had not been allowed to fall away.

At the end of 1945 Mr. Tatam resigned the office which he had so faithfully held during the five most difficult years of the College's life. His work during that time was a fitting crown to 42 years of unselfish and devoted service to Victoria College. His name is inscribed on the door of the room in which he taught for so long; it is as certainly inscribed in the hearts of hundreds of Victorians. "Pat" was succeeded by Mr. R. Postill, T.D., M.A., sometime Natural Sciences Exhibitioner of Trinity College, Cambridge. Mr. Postill had been an Assistant Master at Aldenham and at Tonbridge and, during the War, had served in the Royal Corps of Signals, becoming Commandant of the Royal Signals

O.C.T.U. His first great task was one of re-organisation. Many of the temporary Staff who had helped to keep the College alive had left to continue their careers. Mr. Eden and Mr. Salt returned from the Services, the former to resume command of the J.T.C. (now the C.C.F.) and the latter to become Senior Classics Master, and many new Masters were appointed. M. Bonne, who had for 17 years been Head of Modern Languages, retired in the Spring of 1945; Major Dawson returned to complete a period of service extending back to 1912. Mr. W. H. Thorne, a former Assistant Master at the "Prep" was appointed its new Master-in-Charge. And the process of rebuilding continued.

On June 2nd 1946 a memorial service to Old Victorians who had lost their lives in the Second World War was held in College Hall. The academic life of the College quickly resumed a normal pattern. Work was organised on a Form basis, with "setting" in certain subjects and with a wide choice of alternative subjects in the Upper School. By the autumn term numbers had risen to 275 and it was found necessary to use two rooms at College House as class-rooms. The lack of playing fields was a serious handicap but Mr. Carlyle Le Gallais and Mr. Perrédès lent fields temporarily. Cricket had to be played on the beach, in the Prep. playground, or on Dr. Warrington's lawn, and so it was not surprising that Elizabeth won the first post-war cricket match. However, by 1947 cricket was again possible on a re-sown College Field, with the Tuckshop doing a brisk trade between the innings.

In 1948 the generous benefaction of the late John Hammond Wimble came into effect. On his death in 1929 he had left £20,000 the income from which, after certain life interests had expired, was to provide Scholarships at Oxford or Cambridge. The first Wimble Scholar was B. W. Tiffen who had previously won a Channel Islands Scholarship to Exeter College, Oxford.

In 1948 College House was reopened for boarders ; at first the Headmaster and Mrs. Postill had only 9 boys to care for, but the number steadily increased and, at the time of writing, is in the thirties. In the same year we were honoured by a visit from Viscount Montgomery of Alamein (whose signature may still be seen on the C.C.F. bass-drum).

In 1949 the first full-scale inspection of the College for many years was carried out by H.M. Inspectors, who reported favourably.

By this time a full games programme had become possible and in 1950 College Field was enriched by a new Pavilion, the gift of an O.V., G. O. Laurens. On July 31st it was opened by Mr. Laurens, and Mrs. Laurens unveiled the plaque commemorating their son, George Henry Francis Laurens, and all other Old Victorians who had given their lives in the Second World War.

Meanwhile the Association of Old Victorians had decided to present an Art School as a War Memorial for the College, and had announced that Miss Margaret Brodie, of Glasgow, had been selected as the winning architect in open competition. Work was soon begun on the building and it was completed in time for the Centenary Celebrations, when it was opened by H.R.H. The Duke of Gloucester. The Entrance Hall to the Art School houses the Roll of Honour and a tablet in memory of Dr. Harold John Blampied, O.V.

A very pleasing ceremony took place on January 15th 1951 when the College assembled to witness the unveiling in the library of a portrait by Van Doorne of Mr. A. H. Worrall. The Bailiff, Sir Alexander Coutanche, spoke of Mr. Worrall's great work for the College, and Mr. Worrall suitably replied.

1952 was a great year, marking as it did the Centenary of the opening of Victoria College, though the early part of the year was clouded by the untimely death of His Majesty King George VI, our Visitor.

The College celebrated its Centenary in many ways, not least by winning the Athletics Match against Elizabeth for the first time since the War and by winning both cricket matches. The celebrations reached their climax on July 26th when T.R.H. The Duke and Duchess of Gloucester visited the College. They were received with the Royal Salute from a Guard of Honour of the C.C.F. and then moved to the Memorial Art School. During a dedication service conducted by the Dean of Jersey and the Rev. G. R. Balleine, the Bailiff read the Roll of Honour, and His Royal Highness unveiled the Memorial plaques. After the service the Royal Party inspected the building and then moved through the Howard Hall, with its portrait of King George V, to College Hall where school and guests had assembled. The Head Prefect read and presented a Loyal Address, to which the Duke graciously responded. The Duke then presented the Queen's Awards on behalf of Her Majesty. After the Carmen and the National Anthem the Duke and Duchess went to "Belk" to sign the Visitors' Book and to meet members of Governing Body and Staff. They finally left through the cheering ranks of the school. On the next evening their Royal Highnesses attended an official Banquet in College Hall. The celebrations also included a Centenary Service in College Hall and a Choral and Instrumental Concert at which the new Compton Electrone Organ presented by the States was heard. Later, on 28th

September 1952, the eve of the actual Centenary Day, the whole College joined in a half-hour programme of hymns which was broadcast by the B.B.C.

Early in the Autumn Term the annual Old Victorian Dinner was held in College Hall; the experiment was so successful that all subsequent Annual Dinners have been held there.

By 1952 College Services had increased in scope and were making an ever more valuable contribution to the corporate life of the school. The Hall served as the Chapel and in it were held Choral Services on three days a week, a Communion Service early on Sundays, and the Terminal Service. In more recent years there have also been two Evensongs each term, attended by some boys and parents.

The need for new classrooms had by now become apparent and in 1953 a fine new block built on the site of the old "Hohenlinden" garden, was opened. It bears the name "De Carteret" so as to preserve the link with the late Jurat Reginald Malet de Carteret who had been Chairman of the Governing Body from 1927 to 1935. His photograph, presented by his son, Jurat Guy Malet de Carteret, hangs in the entrance hall. The building contains a Biology Laboratory, a General Science Laboratory and six large classrooms, as well as a C.C.F. Armoury and Store.

During these later years College games had continued to improve rapidly. Elizabeth College had been kept well at bay, except in Athletics. The annual football tour of England, where matches are played against some of the strongest of English Public Schools, has proved tremendously successful and the College has an excellent record. College footballers have been regularly chosen for representative Public School sides. The Swimming Tour includes the Public Schools' race at the Bath Club, and matches against Brighton College, Taunton's School, and the Royal Belfast Academical Institution. The Shooting VIII has made remarkable progress and for the past few years has always been among the leaders at the Public Schools' Meeting at Bisley. In 1954 the VIII was 4th in the Ashburton, and won the Cottesloe Vase; in 1955 it won the Cottesloe again, and in 1956 had perhaps its greatest year, coming 2nd in the Ashburton, winning the Montagu Jones Trophy, and retaining the Cottesloe.

The C.C.F. has also made much progress in directions other than shooting. In 1951 an R.A.F. Section was formed and it has provided valuable training for many senior boys. The scope of Army training increased considerably with the introduction of new arms and equipment, and opportunities for specialist training were also provided by the foundation in 1946 of a Signals Platoon. The continued health and efficiency of the Corps, reflected in its Annual Inspection Reports, owe much to the devoted work of Lt. Col. R. L. Eden who has commanded it (except during the War) since 1931—a record which is unlikely ever to be surpassed.

The Scout Troop, though officially disbanded during the Occupation, kept itself alive through those years and has now reached the mature age of 30. It does immensely valuable work, chiefly amongst the younger boys, and the College has cause to be grateful to all the Scoutmasters and other helpers who have worked, and are working, to achieve and maintain its high standards.

A highly successful experiment was the foundation, in 1953, of the Friday Club. School work is now arranged so that all the Sixth Forms may meet as a club on Friday afternoons to hear lectures and recitals, and to conduct debates and discussions on a wide variety of subjects. Election to full membership, and thence to office, is the reward of special merit, and the Chairmanship of the Club is rightly accounted a high honour.

Since 1952 there has been a gradual reintroduction of the former College colours, black and gold, for cap, tie, blazer and scarf. The change was not made without considerable thought, and it appears now to be generally approved. The games colours are still chocolate and white.

No account of the College would be complete without a reference to the Preparatory. When Mr. W. H. Thorne was appointed Master-in-Charge in 1946 he faced a difficult task of re-organisation. The faithful work of those who had served the 'Prep.' during the Occupation had kept its spirit alive, but new problems arose almost at once through the return of families to the Island and the consequent demand for places. Within eighteen months the numbers had increased to nearly 200, about double the pre-war maximum, and the pressure on physical space became a serious difficulty. This was partially met by the release of the "Scout Hut" for use as Prep. form rooms, but subsequently it became necessary to restrict entry, and aim at a maximum of 150 boys. When Mr. Thorne left in 1956, the results of his great work were apparent in the very happy and healthy school which he handed over to his successor, Mr. R. H. Tostevin.

Recent educational developments in Jersey have left the status of the College virtually unchanged, but have laid upon it an even more important responsibility in the life of the Island.
