Dear Parents and Students

This afternoon, the UK Government and Ofqual announced that Centre Assessed Grades (CAGs), produced by teachers who know their students best, will be awarded to students at A level instead of the standardised grades that were given out last week.

We welcome this news for our boys and once again commend them for their resilience during this period of great uncertainty following last week's A level results day.

As further information is made available to us, I will be in touch with you again, but all boys will be emailed an official copy of their CAGs. However, if this announcement impacts your son's onward plans to university, I strongly advise him to contact his university as soon as possible to confirm details of what is required and what the school needs to do to offer support.

Mr Falle (a.falle@vcj.sch.je) and Mr Crossley (p.crossley@vcj.sch.je) will be available for contact via email this evening and tomorrow should your son require official confirmation of his CAGs for university entry.

With my best wishes to you all.

Yours sincerely
